

(Answered.)

1877, Sept. 11 (?) 1877.

262

Dear Mr. Garrison:

Welcome home!
all our family unite in greeting your return, rejoicing in what the newspapers say of your improved health, & regretting that our family in Europe could not have the happiness of seeing you.

You will see, by the little newspaper has enclosed that our old friend & fellow laborer John Walker needs assistance. We should be glad to send him $10 if we knew how.

If it is in your power,
pray tell us how to do so.

All our family
here unite in cordial respects to you & yours -
Ever really yours cordially
A. M. Chapman.

—Captain Jonathan Walker, "the man with the branded hand," immortalized by Whittier, is still living, at the age of 79, in Michigan. He has a large family, and is said to be in extreme poverty.

